- III. Communists are capable of large-scale military offort aimed at disrupting Tachens evacuation.
  - A. Comms could launch air strikes on Tachens beaches and against US and Hat vessels in area, could make smeak attacks on ships with subs and torpode boats, could pour artillary fire on Tachens and harbor between.
  - B. "We believe it is unlikely that the Communists would deliberately attack US forces engaged in the evacuation of Matienalist garrisons, but the possibility of a serious incident cannot be excluded." (SHIE 100-3-55, 25 Jan)
- IV. Communists might move quickly against Matsu Islands--where Mats have only 3,600 regulars, 1,200 gmerrillas--while US and Mat forces are occupied in Tachens evacuation.
  - A. Believe Comms would prefer to move additional neval and air strength into Matsu area, however, before trying invasion.
  - B. In meantime, expect Comms to undertake probing actions aimed at testing US intentions regarding defense of Matsus.
  - C. Probing might take form of attacks on Natural shoulding by artillery to morth.

- V. Communists do not appear prepared at this time to attempt invasion of Quemoys, where Entionalists have more than 80,000 troops.
  - A. Comme have about 60,000 troops in area opposite Quemays, would probably want to move two more armies (100,000) into position, would also want strong air and navel support not now available.
  - B. Communists expected to renew probing actions, to test US intentions, in Quemoys as well as in Matres.
  - C. Probing might involve heavy shelling from numerous artillery positions near Quemoys, use of torpode boats and other craft, or invasion of lightly-held minor islands (Tatan and Erhtan).
